

I am disappointed to learn that the FCC is planning on over throwing the NJ Do Not Call list. Please do not do this.

Since I signed up for both the federal and state lists, the number of phone calls received on my home phone have dropped from about 20 per day to about 5. And, those 5 calls are desired calls from family, friends, and businesses.

It has been a blessing not to be interrupted during dinner time from 5:30PM to 7PM by un-welcomed and pushy telemarketers. I have an answering machine that screens such calls, and it got to the point that I simply took the phone off the hook. Sometimes it stayed off-hook for a day.

So may be the solution is to get rid of the land line and go to cell phone.
